Pandemic Education and Viral Politics

Michael A. Peters, Beijing Normal University, China and Tina Besley, Beijing Normal University, China

Viral modernity is a concept based upon the nature of viruses, the critical role they play in evolution and culture, and their application to understanding the role of information and forms of bioinformation in the social world. Michael A. Peters and Tina Besley, explores human resilience and the collective response to catastrophe, and the philosophy and literature of pandemics, including 'love and social distancing in the time of Covid-19.' These essays, a collection from Educational Philosophy and Theory, also explore the politicising of COVID-19, the growth of conspiracy theories, its origins, and the ways it became a 'viral' narrative in the future of world politics.
